HW(LS)

For the Bloch vector without decay, prove that for constant Ω, the angle between the Bloch vector and the pseudofield vector remains constant. What is the geometric interpretation of this result?

Now, imagine that $\underline{\underline{\Omega(t)}}$ is a slowly varying function of t compared to $\frac{1}{\Omega(t)}$. Prove that if initially the Bloch vector is parallel to the pseudofield vector, it remains so (approximately).